DEMS OUTLINE PARTY'S PROGRAM FOR ECONOMIC REHABILITATION

ORATORS CONDEMN ADMINISTRATION FOR BUSINESS LULL

JEFFERSON DAY ADDRESSES DENOUNCE TACTICS OF HOOVER ADMINISTRATION

Washington. — Democratic orators, leading party workers with campaign ammunition, Wednesday heaped upon the Hoover administration the blame for the depression and outlined a program of economic rehabilitation for the party to espouse.

Through a series of addresses at a Jefferson day luncheon attended by Democratic leaders from near and far ran the theme that the Republican party had wrecked business, plunged millions into misery and engulfed the government in debt due to extravagance.

Minnesota representatives said that the state would go Democratic by more than 100,000. South Dakota prospects were reported as "the best ever." In the absence of a report from Wisconsin, Shouse forecast an excellent chance for the Democratic ticket there this fall. There was no report from North Dakota.

Minnesota also reported that collections had been slowed down by a "gorgeous" family row which we hope will be settled soon.

Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas said President Hoover had elected an "an economic genius" with a patent formula to insure prosperity which now should be thrown "into the limbo of exploded heresies."

Rainey Hits Tariff
"Every policy advanced in the 1928 campaign by the 'economic marvel of the age' is now generally recognized as unsound," Robinson declared.

Democratic Floor Leader Rainey of the house concentrated his fire on the Republican tariff policies.

Rep. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey denounced the administration for extravagance and failure to balance the budget of the past two years. She directed charges of waste particularly against the department of commerce, of which Mr. Hoover was head before he became president.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, vice chairman of the Democratic national committee, declared that "if this nation is to be lifted from the present abyss of distress, a partnership must be established between the Democratic party and men and women of all political faiths who believe that the times and conditions demand a change in the control of the government."

Robinson Outlines Plans
Senator Robinson suggested the following program to remedy the country's troubles:

1. American capital should be used at home rather than loaned abroad.
 2. This government must announce a firm purpose not to cancel or readjust obligations due from foreign countries, except upon conditions manifestly to the interest of our own people.
 3. The "policy of isolation reflected in prohibitive tariffs" must be abandoned in favor of "fair, reciprocal tariff arrangements."
 4. "Laws for the prevention and regulation of monopolies must be enforced."
 5. The high cost of government must be reduced by abolishing and consolidating federal bureaus and departments.
 6. "Readjustments must come in domestic production and in commerce" in order to increase commodity prices. "Instead of piling up additional surpluses, existing surpluses must be disposed of in accordance with orderly processes. . . . New domestic markets must be stimulated and foreign markets reached by receiving on more liberal terms those products of foreign countries which cannot be economically produced in our own territory."
- Former Governor Alfred E. Smith, after the meeting, predicted a party victory, but declined to discuss his own plans for participating in the campaign proper.

50,000 People in 7,000 Homes of Trade Territory Receive Dispatch Heralding Brainerd 'Bargain Days'

Messages of merchants carried in Wednesday's 10-page edition of The Daily Dispatch and heralding unusual and almost unheard of values for "Brainerd Bargain Days" Friday and Saturday, April 15 and 16, went to approximately 50,000 people in 7,000 homes in Brainerd and throughout the Brainerd trade territory ranging within a radius of 65 miles.

With this blanket coverage representing The Daily Dispatch's part in introducing Brainerd merchants to people throughout the Brainerd trade territory, merchants today continued their deep-cut pricing to a point which, they declare, will defy shoppers to pass up.

day's edition of The Daily Dispatch Offerings announced in Wednesday's not only set a new standard of value in merchandise but also represented exceptional opportunities to save money by buying at the marked-down prices heralded for the bargain festival.

Practically every line of merchandise is being offered insuring shoppers of wide selections and any article their needs demand at sensational figures. Watch for the streamers, banners and don't forget to inspect each and every price tag which represents values of almost inconceivable savings.

Don't forget the days, Friday and Saturday, April 15 and 16.

NEW NAT'L. F. L. UNIT THIRD PARTY THREAT

St. Paul.—Three political camps will have more than a spectator's interest in the state convention of the newly-organized Farmer Labor party of America which meets in Rochester April 18.

The Farmer Labor Association of Minnesota, which has no official connection with the Rochester meeting and the national convention of the new party in Chicago, July 4, is prepared to make the group its vehicle for entry into the national political arena, the United Press learned Wednesday.

Former Non-Partisan League members of North Dakota have been ready to take part in the third party movement since their unsuccessful efforts to inaugurate presidential candidacies for Senators Hiram Johnson and George W. Norris.

U. S. DEFICIT SOARS TO MARK IN EXCESS OF TWO BILLIONS

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY ANY NATION'S PEACE-TIME DEFICIT EXCEEDED FIGURE

Washington.—A federal budget deficit of $2,017,550,745.29 on April 11 was reported by the treasury on Wednesday.

It was the first time in history that any nation's peace-time deficit has exceeded $2,000,000,000.

During the past week expenditures exceeded revenue at the rate of $15,000,000 a day.

The deficit for 10 months and 11 days of the current fiscal year represents a total 20 times the cost of the Panama canal and 50 times the cost of the war of 1912. Expenses of the civil war were less than the present budget deficit.

Operating expenses of the government are equivalent to $22 for every man, woman and child in the United States. The actual budget deficit represents a cost to each citizen of $16.

PROSECUTION STRIKES AT INSANITY DEFENSE PLEA AS DARROW BIDES TIME

Courtroom, Honolulu, T. H.—Hawaiian legislative leaders pledged aid to prosecutors in the honor slaying of a native youth Wednesday as the territory's case against four American defendants drew to a swift climax.

Governor General Lawrence M. Judd summoned a "board of strategy" while Prosecutor John Kelley paraded witness after witness before a mixed jury in hopes of proving that Joe Kahahawai's death was plotted by mild-mannered Grace Bell Fortescue and three navy men.

Kelley bent every resource to forestall a temporary insanity defense by the veteran Clarence Darrow, chief defense counsel, who drafted two psychiatrists from the mainland for this purpose. If the defense carries out this plan, the territory will provide funds to retain alienists of its own, Judd unofficially advised Kelley.

Advised of the presence of Drs. Edward H. Williams and John Orison, Los Angeles alienist, Governor Judd conferred with legislative leaders as to the use of contingent funds for prosecution medical experts. They agreed, the United Press learned, provided territorial funds also be made available to prosecute the second trial of four islanders accused of attacking Thalia Fortescue Massie.

With evidence before the jury outlining the kidnapping and slaying of the native last January, Kelley planned to conclude the prosecution Wednesday by gathering together the final ends of his case.

Darrow voiced no objection to this. The shrewd defense chief made little effort to cross-examine witnesses as they told of finding Kahahawai's canvas-shrouded body in an automobile driven by Mrs. Fortescue. Also in the car, several policemen testified, were Lt. Massie and Lord.

All were calm and, apparently in control of their senses, the witnesses claimed—an angle developed by Kelley to strike at Darrow's temporary insanity plea.

Loses Engine in River; Aviator Lands Airplane Safely

Wabasha, Minn.—After a broken propeller had pulled the motor of his airship loose in midair, Pilot M. B. Freeburg managed to land his Chicago-bound Northwest Airways plane safely on the emergency field near here late Tuesday.

The motor was pulled loose but still dangled from the ship's framework. Freeburg shut off the switch so the vibrations would not further damage the ship or throw the motor loose from the plane while over the town. If the motor had crashed into the town, some one might have been injured, it was said.

Flying over the Mississippi river, Freeburg maneuvered until the motor dropped in the water.

FIND LINDBERGH RANSOM NOTES IN NEW YORK, LONDON

DR. CONDON, "JAFSIE," STILL HAS HOPE FOR SAFE RETURN LINDBERGH BABY

New York.—Dr. John F. Condon still has hope for the safe return of the kidnapped Lindbergh baby.

The elderly educator, who as "Jafsie" conducted negotiations with one group which resulted in payment of $50,000 ransom without return of the child, Wednesday declared:

"The only thing I can say now is that I still have hope."

"I had contacts with the kidnapers and have direct contact with them still," Dr. Condon said.

Condon made his statement after another mysterious night trip believed to have been an attempt to Hopewell, N. J.—Authorities Wednesday denied that Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh was in a critical condition from a nervous breakdown.

Colonel H. Norman Schwartzkopf issued a brief statement, saying, "There has been no perceptible change in Mrs. Lindbergh's condition for several weeks."

communicate with the negotiators to whom he paid $50,000 in a futile effort to regain the stolen baby.

His use of the word "direct" was believed to indicate he had means of contact other than the "Jafsie" note which was repeated in a New York newspaper today.

Condon's statement was the first to that effect he has made since negotiations apparently were broken off after payment of the ransom April 2.

Washington.—One of the bills paid by Charles A. Lindbergh to the supposed kidnapers of his son has been recovered in New York, it was learned at the treasury Wednesday.

The bill was a $20 gold certificate. Secret service officials said they had been unable to discover who put it into circulation.

Trenton, N. J.—Search for Harry Fleischer, former Detroit Purple gangster who has been sought for questioning in the Lindbergh kidnapping case, extended to Nova Scotia today where he was reported seen.

Col. H. Norman Schwartzkopf, superintendent of New Jersey state police, said police of St. Johns and Halifax had been requested to watch for Fleischer and to make a careful survey of "packages" leaving Halifax.

According to the police statement, Fleischer is reportedly preparing to leave for England.

"A mysterious and anonymous message was received advising that definite information of the kidnapers and the whereabouts of the child would be available on a boat on or near the property of the A. A. C. & Co., of Chrome, N. J. Details of droppers together with a detail of the Cartaret police searched all boats in or near the A. A. C. dock and found only six barges but to no avail.

London.—Some bank notes among the $50,000 ransom currency paid by Col. Lindbergh to purported kidnapers of his child have been found in London, the Daily Mail said.

PREDICTS EUROPEAN PURCHASE

George S. Milnor, Head Grain Stabilization Unit, Optimistic after Return from European Countries.

Paris.—The end of the world wheat crisis was forecast today by George S. Milnor, president of the Grain Stabilization corporation of the United States, on the basis of a light American crop report and an increased European demand.

"Announcement of the poor crop prospects in the United States, coincident with the forthcoming European demand for wheat, means, I believe, the end of the wheat crisis," Milnor told the United Press.

Milnor predicted extensive European purchases of wheat in the next four months from the United States, Canada, or Argentina. He returned here after a tour of Europe in which he investigated

Washington—Franklin D. Roosevelt Wednesday had 207 convention votes pledged, instructed, or otherwise assured through failure to select other than Roosevelt delegates in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Kentucky added 26 votes by action of its state convention Tuesday night. Nebraska added 16 convention votes by action of the state electorate in the presidential preference primary.

The 165 votes previously acquired by the Roosevelt camp came from: Alaska 6, New Hampshire 8, North Dakota 9, South Dakota 10, Wisconsin 26, Georgia 28, Washington 17, Minnesota 24, Maine 12, Iowa 23. Michigan Democrats were to allot their 38 votes Thursday in convention. Roosevelt is favored.

the wheat situation and conferred with grain men and consular and trade agents.

"The principal European countries, including France, Italy, Germany, Holland, and Belgium, have exhausted their domestic wheat supplies and must buy heavily before the new crop at the end of August," Milnor said.

"As the Russian surplus will be exhausted, only the American nations will remain as possible wheat sellers. I did not conclude any agreements for sale of wheat in Germany or elsewhere in Europe because in each case credits were demanded."

European wheat requirements until September are estimated at well over 50,000,000 bushels. Apart from the needs of western Europe, Greece requires 10,000,000 bushels this year. The Greek government recently negotiated with Argentina and Canada for credits for purchase of wheat, but no agreement was reached.

Conservative traders have warned that the 7-8 cent a bushel advance in the wheat prices since Friday had been too rapid to be maintained.

belief that the great staple of the far ministry has a greater intrinsic worth in view of the desolation of southwest winter wheat areas and marked improvement in export conditions.

Attention of the entire nation was focussed on the grain trading centers by the known record that bull wheat markets broke the panic of 1926, steadied stock prices in the world war crisis and led the way to recovery in 1921.

Railroads expected little increase in carloading as a result of the advance. They pointed out that stocks held by farmers have now been reduced to about 160,000,000 bushels. With an estimated winter wheat crop of 440,000,000 bushels the margin left for shipment to market is slight.

3 1/2 Pound Child Born Here Gaining Weight Daily; Mother Well

Betty Jane, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Charles Bajula, 305 Main street, is gaining in weight daily, making up for her weight at birth, 3 1/2 pounds. The mother is well.

The child when born was 16 inches long. Dr. O. E. Hubbard is the attending physician.

Bajula who is employed at the Hickerson Garment Factory reported Wednesday that both he and his mother weighed only four pounds at birth.

HOOVER PROPOSES FIVE DAY WEEK FOR FEDERAL WORKERS

"STAGGER EMPLOYMENT SYSTEM" WOULD EFFECT SAVING OF $95,000,000, HE SAYS

Washington.—President Hoover Wednesday offered a simplified "stagger employment system" plan including a general five-day week for government workers, designed to effect a saving of $95,000,000, as part of his national economy program to balance the budget.

The president's new scheme was offered by J. Clawson Roon, director of the budget, at an executive meeting of the house special economy committee.

It involved among other points:

1. The principle of a five-day week throughout the government service.
2. Elimination of all leave with pay.

Chairman McDuffie, Democrat, Alabama, said the committee was ready to proceed to the White House to resume conferences with the president at 3 p. m.

The president's simplified plan, the memorandum submitted by Roon set forth, would not extend to the enlisted men in the defense services or to rural mail carriers.

ILLINOIS G. O. P. S CHOOSE SMALL FOR GOVERNOR'S POST

Chicago.—Illinois' primary election, marked in Chicago by numerous kidnappings, sluggings and one shooting, indicated Wednesday that both Republican and Democratic organization candidates had been generally successful.

An exception was ex-Governor Len. Small's victory in the Republican gubernatorial race over four strong opponents. Election of delegates to party conventions indicated strong wet sentiment.

Judge Henry Horner of Chicago won the Democratic gubernatorial contest.

Protests against the Republican administration were seen in victories of a number of anti-Hoover, anti-prohibition and anti-high taxes delegates to the Republican national convention and in the heavy vote cast in some sections against Senator Otis F. Glenn, Republican candidate to succeed himself.

There was no contest among Democratic presidential delegates who have been pledged for an initial vote to Senator James Hamilton Lewis. Many are expected to switch later to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York.

The vote set a record for a primary.

St. Louis, Mo.—Missouri Republicans were pledged Wednesday to support Herbert Hoover as the country's next president.

The party's state convention, after hearing Gov. Henry S. Caulfield compare Hoover's statesmanship to that of Abraham Lincoln, instructed Missouri delegates to the national meeting to support the president.

GRANDI ENDORSES POLICY; OUTLINES ITALY'S PROPOSALS

Proposal for Guarantees of Security Against Aggression Presented at Word Arms Meet by Japan

Geneva.—Italian Foreign Minister Dino Grandi gave immediate approval to the United States disarmament proposals Wednesday and outlined the Italian program for progressive destruction of the world's armaments.

Attacks French Plan

Grandi attacked the French plan for international armed forces to be placed at the disposal of the League of Nations. He outlined the Italian plan to the general commission of the disarmament conference as follows:

1. Division of all cannons and munitions into three groups, with immediate destruction of the heaviest calibers and progressive destruction of the other groups.
2. Application of the same principle to tanks.
3. Each nation, before the end of each year, shall destroy a stipulated percentage, by categories, of its total naval tonnage.
4. Abolition of bombing planes by fixing a percentage to be destroyed annually.
5. Immediate destruction of all supplies of chemical gases.

Geneva.—A proposal for guarantees of security against aggression, and for prohibition of aerial bombing of cities, towns and civil populations was presented to the world arms conference by Japan.

The security proposal was as forecast exclusively by the United Press March 21. Japan asked that assurance March 21. Japan asked that assurances be provided to safeguard each contracting party to a disarmament treaty from menaces caused by the armaments of states not party to the treaty, or of states violating the treaty.

"In view of the relative nature of armaments," the Japanese memorandum said, "and in view of the world situation in which certain countries have peculiar political, social and economic structures or disturbed internal conditions (apparently meaning Russia and China), are creating a sense of uneasiness in the minds of neighboring peoples, it is considered necessary that measures be taken to remove the fears caused by non-signatory powers or by possible non-observance of treaty obligations."

In addition to proposing a ban on aerial bombing of civilians, the memorandum proposed prohibition of gas warfare, reduction of the unit size of capital ships to 25,000 tons, reduction of gun caliber to 4 inches, reduction of the allotted tonnage of aircraft carriers or their abolition, prohibition of aircraft landing platforms on the decks of vessels, and limitation of arms and aircraft equipment on merchant vessels.

New Orleans.—World famous air pilots have been invited to participate in the New Orleans air carnival to be held this month. The carnival, under the auspices of a newspaper, will last four days.

Washington.—Senator Robinson, Rep., Ind., Wednesday told the senate it should investigate charges that Democratic convention votes were being bought for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York.

Robinson quoted from a newspaper article representing Governor Murray of Oklahoma as having made the charge.

Harrison said the federal reserve consistently raised the bank discount rate in an effort to check the disastrous flood of speculation which swept the country.

"But you went up too slowly," Strong shot at Harrison.

"We went up slowly, in the light of past experience," Harrison retorted, "and I'll admit we might do it differently now."

"There's no use trying to put out a fire when it's already burned itself out," Strong came back at him.

He said the speculation was largely due to the flow of an unlimited supply of money from the excess reserves of individuals and corporations thrown into the bull market of 1928-29.

CHARGES MILLS EVADING REVENUE MEASURE ISSUE

SENATE COMMITTEE ORDERS TREASURY HEAD TO AGAIN APPEAR BEFORE BODY

Washington.—Secretary of Treasury Mills Wednesday was summoned to appear again before the senate finance committee after Democratic members charged he was shirking responsibility in refusing to submit a complete new tax program as an administration substitute for the House bill. Chairman Smoot of the committee asked Mills to appear Thursday.

Secretary of Treasury Mills Wednesday reiterated to the senate finance committee his approval of the general manufacturers' sales tax and aroused Senator Harrison, dem., Miss., to charge that the secretary was evading the tax issue because "He is not willing in this crisis to assume responsibility for submitting a new tax plan."

Harrison and Majority Leader Watson conferred in an adjoining room after the Democratic outburst against Mills. Watson informed Harrison he had advised Mills not to submit further detailed tax proposals because the senate "will write its own bill anyhow."

"It seems to me," Mills said, "that the treasury position has been presented."

Harrison cited Mills' testimony before the committee last week in which he had said he would offer a new recommendation.

"He has evaded the question," Harrison said, "and he has neither been fair to this committee nor has he lived up to his promises to the committee."

"I can't agree to that," said Chairman Smoot.

"I see no reason why Mills should refuse to furnish a specific program," Harrison said. "His recommendations of last December including the retroactive taxes fell short of balancing the budget by $100,000,000."

ASKS SENATE QUIZ OF VOTE BUYING

Washington.—Senator Robinson, Rep., Ind., Wednesday told the senate it should investigate charges that Democratic convention votes were being bought for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York.

Robinson quoted from a newspaper article representing Governor Murray of Oklahoma as having made the charge.

FRENZIED ACTIVITIES CORPORATIONS BLAMED FOR '29 STOCK MARKET CRASH

Washington.—Blame for the stock market crash in 1929 was placed largely on the frenzied activities of private corporations Wednesday by Gov. Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve bank.

Harrison, testifying before a house sub-committee on banking and currency, said that he bankers had sought to curb speculation in the boom years.

The federal reserve governor, after a sharp exchange with Rep. Strong, Rep., Kan., declared: "You can't blame the banks. If despite their efforts to restrain speculation, you and John Smith think that the A. B. C. D. or any other corporation is pretty good, there's no way to stop you from buying."

DISBAND DECREE TO HITLER TROOPS

Berlin.—President Paul Von Hindenburg has signed an emergency decree dissolving and suppressing the brown shirt Fascist army of Adolf Hitler, it was announced officially today.

The president's drastic action came three days after he had been re-elected in the run-off balloting by more than 6,000,000 votes over Hitler.

Hitler in a statement early in the week, in anticipation of the order, said even a special ban would not cause his "storm troops" to swerve in their loyalty to him.

Hitler's armies, variously estimated in strength at from 200,000 to 400,000 including reserves, were organized and drilled by hundreds of the former Kaiser's officers. Hitler significantly stationed the headquarters of each standard (regiment) in localities where the present reichswehr garrisons are situated.

FILED HILDING SWANSON, CONGRESSMAN AT LARGE, HELD UP PENDING DECISION

The United Press reported to the Brainerd Daily Dispatch Wednesday that Hilding Swanson, Brainerd attorney, Republican, former state senator and State Senator Andrew Devold, Farmer Labor, Minneapolis, attempted to file for the congressional race at large with Secretary of State Mike Holm.

Holm informed them that pending a decision of the attorney general he could not yet accept their filings, the dispatch continued.

The attempt to file was made on the strength of the ruling of the United States supreme court that Minnesota is no longer divided into congressional districts.

G. S. Swanson, brother of Hilding, stated Wednesday that Hilding is in St. Paul arguing a case before the state supreme court. He said that while Hilding had discussed phases of filing for congressman at large he had reached no definite decision in discussions with him.

The United Press further states that it appears unlikely that the Republicans will endorse the present slate of incumbents to congress. Too many prominent party leaders are available and desirous of making a campaign against incumbents.

Republican leaders believe that several party leaders including Ray P. Chase of Anoka and former governor Theodore Christianson have better chances of election than some of the present incumbents.

Until the Republican state convention April 30 no definite plans will be made toward endorsing any slate of congressional candidates, it was said, and perhaps not then.

-- In Choosing a New Hat, Just Consider the Waist --

There is real affinity between hats and blouses this spring. Since it is the order of the day to wear suit skirts with blouse and to take off your coat, hats are more apt to consider blouses than the suit itself.

Thus you see trim modern versions of the staunch sailor talking on quite feminine men to suit the soft little blouse it goes with.

There is a real vogue for white hats to go with white blouses, this spring. Usually they are of roughish straw, or some novelty woven straw to break the garish effect of too smooth a white hat. These weaves, also, have the feeling of the crepe silks that blouses are made of.

One of the neatest little white toppers is a rough Breton sailor (right), from Bonwit Teller, New York. It has a modified lower crown and a brim that rolls off one side of the hair and dips both front and back. It has a little bow of its own straw on one side at the back. And, to heighten its charm, a little nose veil of black, with a lacy edge.

The blouse is of white peau d'ange, with fine tucking detail at the neck, under the sleeves and at the waist. It is a tuck-in, giving the new separate skirt, which accentuates the corset waistline, a chance to show-off.

There is nothing smarter than the black straw hat, particularly if it happens to be a Mainbocher interpretation of the Breton sailor (left). This one, a fine black milan, from Bonwit Teller, New York, has a higher crown and a flat brim that dips in front. It has a white banding and a lovely single flower a little to the right side of the front. It is worn with one of the prettiest blouses of the season, fresh as spring itself, a tomato red chiffon, blocked with fine black stripes to make a novelty plaid. It has cute puff sleeves and tight cuffs and a soft scarf neckline that ties into a bow.

Lundborg's

Lane and His Alabama Cotton Pickers. According to theatre manager Harry Greenberg, this is a fast-moving singing and dancing show in which eleven talented negro performers present a mixture of their old Southern melodies and dances together with their interpretation of the latest "hot" jazz numbers. The master of ceremonies is Pedro Lane, formerly a featured player in the musical show "Shuffle Along," who will entertain Paramount theater audiences with his eccentric dances and comic antics. On the bill are the night club entertainers, Belle and Bobbie Brown, "high steppin' gals from the Sunny South," followed by Winnie Waters, who croons low-down Southern Rhythm. Flash and Speed bring some snappy dances from Dixie, and the Alabama Cotton Pickers make their instruments laugh and cry throughout the performance in a medley of numbers rendered in typical negro style. The stage show will be presented in addition to the feature screen attraction "Play Girl" with Loretta Young and Winnie Lightner.

"Cleanest Baby"

You can't dispute the fact that Little Antonia Morales, shown here, scored a "clean victory" in a contest with numerous other children in the infant schools of Barcelona, Spain, for she was awarded the prize as "the cleanest and best-kept child." The contest was in connection with a campaign for personal hygiene.

HAYMAKER, MOTLEY P. M., LOSES CAR, SHOT AT BY TWO HE BEFRIENDS

Two strangers robbed Ernest Haymaker, Motley postmaster, of his car at the point of a gun, ordered him out of the car, shot four times at him as he left the car, and departed to parts unknown.

Haymaker had a special delivery errand to attend to and brought his car to the postoffice with him for this purpose when two strangers approached him, telling him a hard luck story of how they were on their way to Brainerd on an urgent call, when the bearings of their car burned out, and wondering if they might secure him to drive them to Brainerd.

Haymaker, being one of the state's leading Odd Fellows, was kind enough to be the Good Samaritan, and had started out for Brainerd with the men, when he felt the muzzle of a gun at his back. He was ordered to pull off the road, turn the car around and beat it. He argued with the men but obeyed, his obedience being hastened by the firing of four shots from one of the bandits' gun. At some distance away Haymaker saw the men start the car and drive west over highway No. 2.

Making his way to a nearby home, Haymaker phoned to Motley, notifying them of the robbery. He secured a car and returned to town, where the search for the robbers started. They apparently went west, for the car was identified as it passed through Staples, but at that time no word had been received of the robbery, so nothing was thought of it.

The robbers had apparently stolen a car in Minneapolis and had told the truth when they said the bearings had burned out, for the car was brought into a Staples garage and was identified as one stolen in the Twin Cities. It has been reclaimed.

When the robbers first entered Motley they went to a local garage, and asked the cost of being driven to Brainerd. After looking the cars over they left the garage, having seen Haymaker pass the garage during the inspection, and went immediately to the postoffice where the Haymaker car was parked.

A rumor is current in Motley that the Twin City owner of the stolen car recovered in Staples believes the men were on their way into Canada and desisted his car upon its breakdown, stealing the new car to make the get away.

SENIOR CLASS C-I. GIVES PLAY FRIDAY

Friday, April 15, has been chosen as the date for presentation of "Cyclone Sally" by the Senior class of the Crosby-Ironton high school.

Miss Dorothy Kretschmar, for several years in charge of public speaking work in the school, is directing the play, and the cast of seniors taking part includes the following:

Jack Webster, a millionaire's son—Nicholas Knickerbocker.
Reggie Manners, an English dude—James Butler.
Willie Clumb, who keeps "Fortgettin'"—Ray Mireau.
Jim Jenkins—Donald Kuttger.
Sally Graham, "Cyclone Sally"—Merle Bogan.
Jennie Thatcher—Marguerite Hooter.

Ruth Thatcher—Betsy Brown.
Emie Varden—Emily Morin.
Vivian Vernon, a society girl—Norma Lennox.

The plot involves a masquerade on the part of Sally, who impersonates her sister Sue in order to fool the fortune hunting Jack Webster. A will leaving Sue a fortune begins the action in the story, and the finding of a letter will complicate the situation.

Several of the cast have appeared in amateur performances before, and have been outstanding in other dramatic work during the year, and the production of this comedy will no doubt be well received.

MASS MEETING TO HEAR SCALLON ON STATE INCOME TAX

REPRESENTATIVE TO LEG-
TURE, ANSWER QUESTIONS
HERE APRIL 18

One of the chief "reasons for being" of the League of Women Voters is a better informed electorate. To further that object, the league has secured the Hon. E. P. Scallion, of Crosby, to give a talk on the State Income Tax next Monday evening, April 18, at the Chamber of Commerce. This centrally located place of meeting was chosen in order that it might be convenient for men as well as women voters. Although men probably have more information than women on the important problems of taxation, the recent debates in congress would seem to indicate that they have not found a solution.

As a national problem, it probably ranks next to law enforcement, for inadequate and inequitable taxation menaces a nation's financial stability as surely as the breakdown of law enforcing machinery menaces its political stability.

As a state problem, it is acute just now as the voters are to be called upon to register at the polls their approval or disapproval of a specific solution. They will vote upon a constitutional amendment which will give their legislators the authority to impose a state income tax.

Probably, no one in Crow Wing county is better informed on the general subject of taxation than the Hon. E. P. Scallion. He has made also a particular study of state income taxes. One may not agree with Mr. Scallion's conclusions, but at least he will present facts regarding the date upon which he bases these conclusions. As questions will be allowed at the close of his address, these should stimulate thought and provoke discussion.

CHINESE TONG KILLER WORKS IN BRICK YARD

COMMUTATION SAVED HIM FROM CHAIR IN NEW MEXICO

Santa Fe, N. M.—In the brick yard of the New Mexico state penitentiary works a nationally-famous Chinese, Woo Dak San, winner of Little Killer, happy for the first time in five years, acutely aware he is safer in prison than out.

Woo killed Fee Foo, member of a rival tong, at Silver City five years ago and Yee's tong would kill Woo if he were released, prison authorities say. The tong hired a skilled attorney to help procure a death sentence.

The dread prospect of execution so frightened Woo that he offered himself for inoculation to a group of scientists seeking a remedy for trachoma if they would have his death sentence commuted. The inoculation might have been fatal, but Woo said he would rather die that way than in the electric chair.

His offer attracted international notice. Sociologists argued whether it would be better to accept it, or throw away the chance of scientific progress that might be made by the inoculation.

Tong enemies of Woo were credited with having the argument settled against acceptance of the offer. Woo was put in the death dungeon.

He's out in the fresh air of the spacious brick yard now, however, after commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment. It's a long sentence, but it suits Woo.

Attendance Slumps at Inaugural Major League Season

RAIN, COLD HOLD TURNOUT IN GAMES TO 119,500 TOTAL

New York—Satisfied that Babe Ruth still is swinging the ash-club with old-time vigor, American baseball fans Wednesday weighed facts and figures from Tuesday's opening games to reckon who's who and what's what.

The long-heralded grand opening was one of the bluest inaugurals in the history of modern baseball. Only 119,500 spectators attended the six games played, whereas 250,000 swarmed to the eight openers in 1931. Rain and cold caused the slump.

Those fans who braved the elements were treated to a fair assortment of thrills. Heavy scoring featured most games. Twenty-nine runs were made in the two American league contests, with 44 hits and five errors. In the four National league games 50 runs were garnered, 83 hits and 11 errors. The New York Giants furnished five of the errors.

High-lights of the opening day were Babe Ruth's two homers at Philadelphia and the Yankees demonstration of hitting power. Cincinnati's emergency hitting strength was demonstrated against the Cubs; the Cardinals championship brand of baseball the uncertain showing

New York—Rain and cold weather caused small attendances at six opening major league games Tuesday and forced postponement of two others. Only 119,500 fans attended the games played, 131,000 less than the attendance at last year's opener.

Tuesday's attendance figures:
National League
Chicago at Cincinnati, 25,500
Philadelphia at New York 18,000
Boston at Brooklyn, 30,000
Pittsburgh at St. Louis, 7,000
American League
New York at Philadelphia 20,000
St. Louis at Chicago, 19,000
Cleveland at Detroit, 10,000
Washington at Boston, rain
Totals 119,500

of the New York Giants, and the question mark at Brooklyn, as a result of the flop of the recognized Dodgers before the Braves. The rejuvenated Chicago White Sox also showed well.

Babe Ruth, starting his eighteenth major league season, warmed the hearts of his legions of admirers by playing more magnificently than ever before in an opening game. He drove out two homers and accounted for five runs as his Yankee team mates swamped the American league champion Athletics at Philadelphia, 12 to 6. In five times at bat, he homered twice, singled once, grounded out and went out on strikes.

His team mate, Sammy Byrd, who has been budding for three seasons, blossomed out with two circuit clouts, and Lou Gehrig got one. Fox and Simmons of the A's garnered a homer each, totalling seven home runs for the game, just one less than the American league record.

In the only other American division game played, the White Sox walloped the St. Louis Browns, 9 to 2, at Chicago. Sam Jones held the Browns to eight scattered hits, while Carey Selph, perhaps the prize draft of the year, drove out three doubles off Stewart and Blacholder.

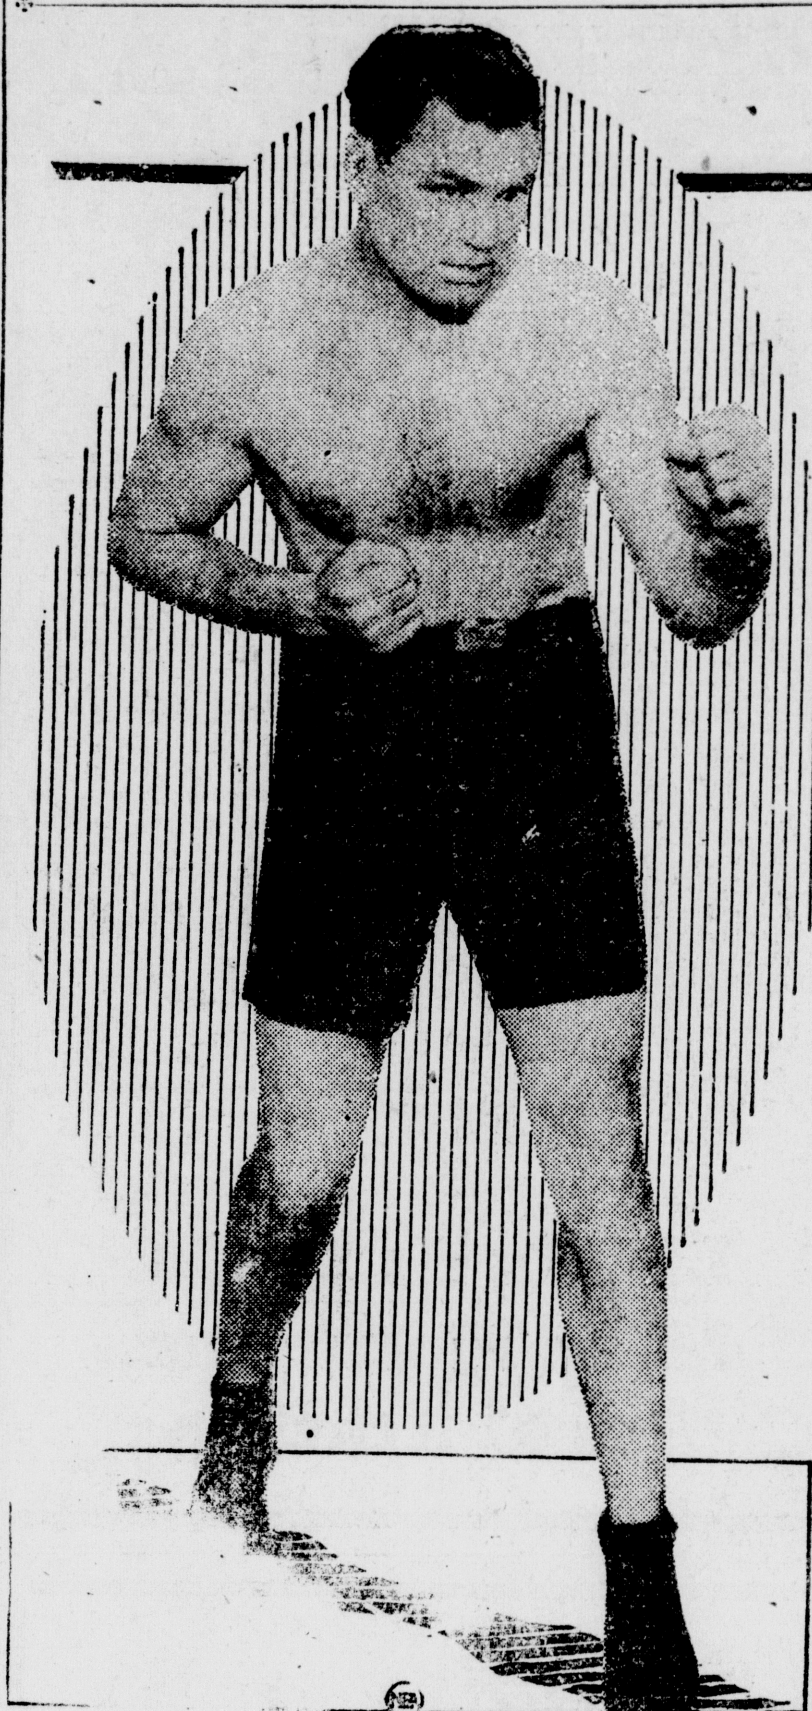

The Cardinals looked like champions as they administered the worst beating of the day to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10 to 2. Pepper Martin, hero of last year's "wild series, showed flashing form by stealing a base. Flint Rhem allowed the Pirates only seven hits. James Collins, who replaced Chis Haffey in left field, knocked the only home run of the game. Larry French pitched six innings for the Pirates, allowing 10 hits, and was replaced by Swift.

The Cincinnati Reds staged a ninth-inning rally to nose out the Chicago Cubs, 5 to 4. Babe Herman, recent acquisition, batted in the run.

Max Carey's reorganized Dodgers succumbed to the Braves, 8 to 3, at Brooklyn, bewildered in the field, weak in pitching and weak also in their previously touted hitting. Hack Wilson, the heavy slugger, made one meaningless hit. Big Eddie Brandt, Boston's left hander, limited the Dodgers to five hits. Waite Hoyt started for Brooklyn, but blew up in the fourth and fifth and was succeeded by Hollis Thurston and Fred Heintz.

The Philadelphia Phillies sprung an upset by beating the Giants at New York, 13 to 5, in a long-winded session. Johnny Vergez of the Giants scored the game's only home run, but the Giants made a surprisingly poor showing. Len Kenebeck, the 27,000 beauty, did little except to take a base on an error in the ribs by Agate Phil Collins' delivery.

SAINTS AND KELS DROP INAUGURALS

By United Press

Four American association baseball teams opened their 1932 season Wednesday, having been kept idle Tuesday by cold and snow.

The two games played resulted in pitching duels with St. Paul, last year's champion, losing to Louisville, 4 to 5, and Indianapolis defeating Minneapolis, 4 to 3, in 12 innings.

The Milwaukee at Toledo, and Kansas City at Columbus games were postponed because of cold. It snowed at Columbus.

Project Members Build Feeder for 50 Hens

Dykeman—The Dykeman poultry project met at the home of Wm. Treichler. Dinner was served at 12:30 p. m. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. C. F. Schellen. "Poultry Housing" was discussed and a large feeder was made. The feeder accommodated 50 hens and was made at little cost.

A birthday was celebrated in conjunction with the meeting, that of little Echo Mary Dykeman, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Dykeman. The birthday cake was baked by Mrs. R. Dahmen. Echo Mary received many presents.

The next meeting will be held the first part of May at the home of Ernest Persson.

About fifty people gathered at the home of Robert Oberg Saturday afternoon to attend the Farm Bureau meeting. Ernest Angel, instructor in horticulture at the University Farm, gave instructions on the pruning and grafting of fruit trees, which was enjoyed by all.

Light Outpoints Pugilist In 6-Round Battle

Duluth, Minn.—Billy Light, St. Paul, outpointed Angelo Pugilist, Duluth, in six rounds Tuesday night. The men are middleweights. Light came from behind to win the last four rounds and a decision.

Bierman Sends Squad Through Hour Workout

Minneapolis—The University of Minnesota spring football squad engaged in almost an hour of stiff scrimmage Tuesday night in typical football weather. Many veterans of last year's team were still working out with the baseball and track squads.

FIND POISON IN PHAR LAP'S ORGANS

San Francisco.—Chemists and toxicologists pursuing three separate inquiries into the death of Phar Lap, famous Australian race horse, were confronted Wednesday by two opposing theories that poison or stomach ulcers killed the "red terror."

A small amount of arsenic was found in an analysis of internal organs but was not sufficient to cause death, University of California chemists reported to David J. Davis, owner of the horse.

An autopsy by city chemists disclosed the horse suffered from stomach ulcers, indicating he was ill before arriving in his United States from Australia last January—and that he was a sick horse when he won the $50,000 Agua Caliente handicap in March.

SPEARS LAUNCHES BADGERS' TRAINING

Madison, Wis.—Dr. Clarence Wiley Spears starts active coaching of the University of Wisconsin football squad when candidates report for the opening spring practice Wednesday.

Nearly 80 candidates are expected, including 18 lettermen.

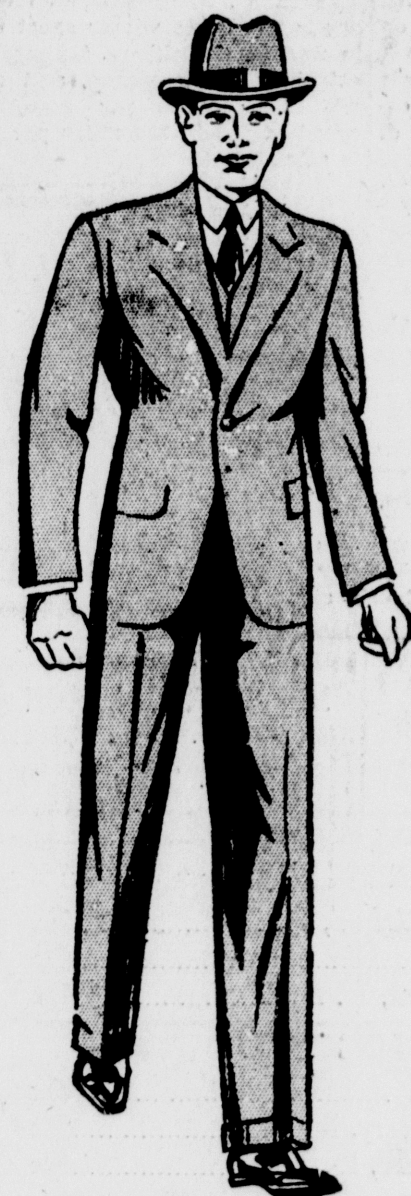

Unless ineligibility hits the squad unusually hard, Spears will have at least average material upon which to build his first Wisconsin team.

Spring drill may last four or five weeks, Spears said. He plans to train the men in his system as much as possible to allow an early start with a good background in the fall season.

People and Beasts of the "Big Top" are Ready for the Road Again—It's Circus Time!

It's spring—and circus time again! They've patched the big top, regilded the wagons, and everything in winter quarters is ready for the road. Here are some of the scenes around the lot of "the biggest show on earth." At upper left a clown is telling a pachyderm pal that "it won't be long now," and below you see Miss Mabel Lennert touching off a fractious zebra named T. N. T. In the center is a close-up of His Majesty Goliath II, biggest of sea elephants. The depression seems to have displeased Goliath; he has been taken off the gold-fish stand. At upper right is Nero, who has promised to be good this year, after severely mauling his trainer, Clyde Deatty, during a workout some months ago. Hank Earle, the Texas giant, and Major Mite have resumed their pinocle game, and below you see them in action during a rest period on the lot.

MARSHAL 12 DAYS
KILLED BY BANDITS

Forest Lake, Minn.—A martyr to his duties as night marshal, a job he had held only 2 days, Nels Berglin, 52, was shot fatally Tuesday night in a gun battle with two bandits who attempted to rob a filling station in Forest Lake.

Berglin with five other residents was sitting in the station when an automobile came up for gasoline. The manager of the station, Idor Pederson, went out to care for the customers. He said there were five youths, none of them over 30 years of age, in the car. Two got out while the other three remained in their automobile.

When Pederson went to the station with the money the two had given him, the pair followed. Once inside they ordered, "Everybody stick 'em up. This is serious. No funny business."

Berglin, however, pulled off his gloves and reached for his gun. The bandits apparently suspected what he was going to do and started shooting just as Berglin drew his revolver. The night marshal fell several shots as he fell to the floor. Seeing Berglin bleeding on the floor, the pair said, "We'd better beat it." They went out to their companions and drove out of town.

HOW DEM HOPES SEE CAMPAIGN ISSUES

The stand taken by leading Democratic presidential possibilities of 1932 on some of the important issues of the approaching campaign is shown in the table below. In most cases, their positions have been set forth in recent speeches.

With the exception of Governor "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma, who probably will be listening in by radio, they are due to gather at Washington April 13 for the annual Jefferson Day rally, probably the last group meeting before the campaign for the nomination warms to fever heat.

Sketch above pictures them at the banquet table.

Party leaders say the meeting is due to receive reports that the $1,500,000 campaign "Victory Fund" has gone over the top. Reports that the party already is "sure" of carrying 15 states in the presidential election, and has "excellent prospects" in 18 and "fair prospects" in 11 more are expected. The states listed as "sure" and "excellent prospects" have 87 more electoral votes than the number necessary to elect a president. The table below shows how the leading Democratic possibilities have expressed themselves on the key questions in public interest:

Smith	Roosevelt	Garnier	Ritchie	THE ISSUES	Baker	Murray	Robinson	Byrd
For "re-adjustment of schedules unfair to the people."	For reciprocal tariffs to encourage foreign trade.	(No record.)	Opposes tariff "which drives industries to foreign countries." SENATE TO CLEAR TAX BILL THIS WEEK

Washington.—The senate finance committee, showing signs of fatigue and discord after less than a week of hearings on the billion dollar revenue bill, decided Tuesday to conclude its consideration of the measure this week if possible.

Seeking to speed the proceedings, the committee voted not to hear witnesses who were not ready to testify when their names were first called.

In an executive session the committee rejected a motion by Senator Couzens, Rep., Mich., to split the committee into smaller groups to conduct hearings on specific portions of the bill. Chairman Smoot said he believed the full committee could proceed expeditiously and report the bill promptly.

VIOLENCE MARKS CHICAGO PRIMARY

Chicago.—A kidnaping, a stabbing, sluggings, threats of gang "rides" and reports of "battering" brigades marked the Illinois primary in Chicago Tuesday as voters flocked to the polls in unprecedented numbers to cast their ballots for the largest field of candidates in any primary ever held in Illinois.

Violence was reported only in Chicago. From downstate came news of the heaviest vote during early election day hours ever recorded. A total of 2,500,000 ballots for the state was forecast. Ideal weather brought the voters out early.

Louis Gazzola, a precinct worker in the 25th ward, was kidnaped from a polling place in West Taylor street. Four men were slugged in other parts of the city.

Joseph A. Cantona, election worker, was stabbed at South State and Polk streets because he refused to give a Negro the names of voters. An artery in his arm was severed.

The first report of attempts to steal ballots came from a polling place on Robey street.

Life On the Plains in

Kearney's Time

The team consists of six mules to each coach. The mail is guarded by eight men, armed as follows: Each man has at his side, fastened in the stage, one of Colt's revolving rifles; in a holster below, one of Colt's long revolvers; and in his belt a small Colt's revolver, besides a hunting knife, so that these eight men are ready in case of attack to discharge one hundred and thirty-six shots without having to reload. This is equal to a small army, armed as in the ancient times; and from the looks of this escort, ready as they are either for offensive or defensive warfare with the savages, we have no fear for the safety of the mails.

The war with the Indians went on unceasingly. Many a time the driver of the stage coach would arrive at one of the trading stations to find it a smoking ruin, the whites scalped and left to fill the numberless graves that were scattered all over the plains.

But if the Indians scored some triumph in this plains warfare the white man settled the score in his own way, and time and fashion. It was not always skulking warfare, with ambushment and stealthy stalking. The story of the battle between our soldiers and Red Cloud and his Sioux warriors is an epic of the plains and no story of that time would be complete without it.

Red Cloud's Defeat.

The modern Indian may read Kipling and be reminded that the attack of undisciplined warriors against breech-loading fire is always ineffectual, but Kipling hadn't been heard of in those days and the breech-loading rifle was new, so Red Cloud and his warriors were due to learn a lesson in the tactics of plains warfare. The result was disastrous to the redman, for, incredible as it may seem, 32 white heroes shattered Red Cloud's army of 3,000 braves. The whites lost only three killed and two wounded, while the staggering loss of the Indians, admitted long after the great fight, was 1,137 killed and wounded.

Red Cloud, one of the greatest Indian warriors of the time, had won a victory and as a result the Indian warriors flocked to his side to drive the hated whites back to the frontier.

It was after this victory that Red Cloud and his greatly augmented army of warriors dropped slinking tactics and came out in the open, convinced that the white man was not the invincible fighter they had thought him to be from previous experiences. Then came the great fight of the 32 against 3,000, a fight that one would search the pages of history a long time to parallel.

Captain James Powell had led a party of woodcutters from Fort Kearney. The fort was in a state of siege, thousands of Indians under Red Cloud being at that time investing it. Powell took every precaution. During the two days he was out with the wood-choppers he arranged his wagons on the plain in the form of a fort, with loopholes for rifle fire and the rifles ready for instant use. His wisdom and foresight were soon proven. Red Cloud decided to repeat with the wood-choppers and their soldier escort the success of the attack previously mentioned. When the critical moment came and the Indians came whooping from the hill to the number of 3,000 braves, the little fort was protected by 32 dauntless men, ready to die if needs be, but prepared with an ample supply of ammunition and with the new Springfield breech-loading rifle as their weapon, several of these rifles ready at the hand of each man, so that a continual blaze of rifle fire could be kept up.

Without any concealment the Indians came riding recklessly up to the little corral, expecting to ride over it and its protectors with little loss. The defenders let them come close to the wagons and then the surprise party began.

It puzzled Red Cloud. He could not understand that terrible, continuous rifle fire from the little company that occupied the corral. It looked like magic to the Indian. It was the magic of the new breech-loading rifle in the hands of dauntless men, but he had no means of knowing that.

Red Cloud soon had enough of open warfare, although the odds were so tremendously in his favor in the matter of numbers. He decided to try the Indian style of fighting. All his warriors were dismounted and the swarming thousands began creeping up on the corral. It was all the same to the defenders. They let the crawlers get within easy aiming distance and then blew them to pieces with a blast that nothing could withstand. Six times the Indians, with their usual desperate courage, tried to rush the little fort. The space around the wagons was piled high with Indian dead and still bullets continued to pour into the writhing mass of assailants. It was more than any fighting man could stand. The Indians became utterly panic-stricken at last and ran for the shelter of the hills.

Under 35? Why Not Step Out to Australia?

FOR girls who want to get married, Australia is the land of golden opportunity. Out there, in the great open spaces of the thinly populated continent, are to be found big manly men, successful, but, oh, so lonely! And when men are lonely and virtually starving for the companionship of a femme—well, girls, why hesitate? Especially when the Australian Board of Immigration is willing, nay, anxious, to pay your passage!

In Spite of All the Inducements Offered There Is Still a Great Scarcity of Women in Australia

Yes, that's just what they've been doing since 1920. They want women in Australia. In fact, they've got to have them. And if you won't go with a view of grabbing off a handsome bushwhacker or two, then go anyhow—to help fill the many situations open to you there.

For stenographers, clerks and shop assistants there is no demand, but if you'd make a comely milkmaid, or can run a machine of any kind, or can wield a mean pancake turner, step lively, please!

Of course, a thing of this sort must be considered from all angles. There are dangers! You may go for the purpose of extending your business experience or launching a career—that, and nothing more. But don't forget the effects of a tropical moon on a languorous night, and a race of exceptionally fine Anglo-Saxons, together with plenty of space to roam. Even the so-called modern girl, who's so terribly able to look after herself, is only human, after all, when she gets away from the home folk!

Business and Romance.

On the other hand, if you're strong-willed or have had a shattered romance and are never going to be the same again, perhaps you'll be able to resist all amatory temptations and make good in the industrial field. In Sydney alone there are nearly 7,000 situations open to women. You need never have worked "out" before, either. If you could make biscuits that Dad could eat, then you'll do here—provided you're under 35. For some strange reason the Australian likes his ladies young—not that he's to be condemned therefore!

Then, again, if you feel you simply can't withstand the importunities of the Australian swains, you don't need to let it worry you. For marriage in Australia has its advantages. For instance: The men are, almost without exception, a strong, sturdy bunch, sound of mind and body, keen and clear-eyed, vigorous and full of grit. None of your cake-eaters and bun-dusters in Australia! It's men you'll find out there—great, live, red-blooded men—the kind that makes fathers for their sons to be proud of.

In Spite of Inducements.

Yet, with all these inducements, you can't get the women out to the island. Why is it? It may be that a great many of them served in various branches during the war and are finding it just as hard to settle down to any one thing as their male comrades in arms; perhaps some of them prefer the life of the crowded cities to the farther reaches of the British Empire and yet again it may be that a great many of them are too timid to go so far from home and friends.

In England, France and Germany the lack of men is appalling. In most cases, there are more than a dozen girls to every one man—and he isn't so anxious to be married that it's noticeable. Talk about shortages! The herself, is only human, after all, when she gets away from the home folk!

Aren't Women Queer.

Yet these girls insist on staying at home under such impossible conditions rather than be sent, passage free, to Australia—where no aliens nor indigents nor persons suffering from disease are allowed ingress, where almost every man is physically perfect and mentally highly developed, a satisfactory mate for a healthy, educated or talented girl, and where she could have freedom and liberty of action undreamed of. But no, she won't go. So what's the use of arguing?

At best the story of the Great Plains, of peril, disaster, battle, murder and sudden death in the days of General Stephen W. Kearney, John C. Fremont and Richard Kern, can only be partially told. There was no one to hear the last words of the dying pioneer as he gave up his soul under the knife or hatchet of the stalking Indian. When grizzly, panther, wild cat or wolf caught the lone camper unawares there was little left to tell the tale had there been any one there to record it. When mountain torrent, cyclone or prairie fire took its toll of the pioneer life of the West it left no trace of its misdeeds. When the venturesome trapper was overcome by the unexpected blasts of winter and gave up struggling to sink peacefully into the death sleep the song of the Snow King was his only requiem.

The unwritten story of these pioneer days is largely a story of violent death and bleaching bones. But many of the intrepid trappers of those days live in history and these men were the real pathfinders. Alone they broke the trails and wandered through the wilderness to the civilized outposts beyond. These were the men that later guided conquerors through the unmaped country.

Death Always Near.

Death came to the trapper in sudden form in those days. Jedediah S. Smith defied the grim monster for many years in his fur-trapping career, and beat him in many a battle when victory seemed hopeless, but he had to succumb at last through a short minute of lack of watchfulness. Smith went astray, with his caravan, in an unknown part of the plains and at last got in desperate plight for want of water. Smith followed a buffalo trail to the bed of a dry river and scooped a hole until it filled with water. He was almost dead with thirst and forgot the dangers of the plains in his desire to drink. He paid for this with his life. As he stopped to drink, skulking Indians, waiting for just this moment, filled his body with arrows. They all died gamely, those glorious old pioneers of the plains, and Smith, with his life streaming from him through a dozen arrow holes, brought down two of the Indians to go to their last account with him. The white man who penetrated singly the wilds of the great West in those early days stood a better chance of surviving than if accompanied by a party. Alone he might escape the vigilance of hostile Indians, but a large party was sure to be trailed by war parties of red men, watching every minute of the day for a chance to catch the caravan guard in careless mood and kill the travelers for their booty or stampede the horses and leave the travelers helpless. It was through a country of this wild and warlike description that the first stage coach was run in 1849, in an attempt to make a link between Independence, Mo., and Santa Fe. This is a description by a newspaper of the day. "The Missouri Commonwealth:" "The stages are got up in elegant style, and are each arranged to contain eight passengers. The bodies he had to succumb at last through a short minute of lack of watchfulness. Smith went astray, with his

PROTECTION TREES WORKS ADVANTAGE TOURIST INDUSTRY

CONSERVATIONIST STRESSES
IMPORTANCE OF WOODED
AREA IN CROSBY TALK

An interesting address was given by Alfred L. Nelson of the state department of conservation at the meeting of the American Legion post of Crosby on April 11. The meeting was open to any who wished to hear the talk, and a large number of people other than Legion men availed themselves of the opportunity.

Dealing with the general subject of conservation of forests, Nelson emphasized the fact that the destruction of forests should be prevented because they serve a four-fold purpose, namely the maintenance of normal level of lakes and streams, preservation of animal life, timber supply and recreation. He told of the enormous damage done each year by forest fires to wild animal life, to fish in rivers and lakes, and to the growth of large trees not actually killed by the fires. Even the soil, he said, is affected by bad fires to such an extent that reforestation cannot be accomplished for many years.

He warned against grass fires, principally because they are too often neglected and allowed to cause serious damage, and also because of the effect which even such fires have on the soil and the growth of plant life.

Illustrating his subject through-out with lantern slides showing pictures of fire damaged areas, wild game destruction by fire and similar topics, Nelson also showed scenes taken in many native beauty places which have made the tourist trade in Minnesota one of its most important industries.

He spoke of the organization of the forestry department, its facilities for locating and controlling fires. He also mentioned efforts being made by the state department in reforestation of devastated areas and replacing of natural water sheds by that means.

The value of public opinion in promoting this work both in the prevention and stopping of fires, and in the replanting of trees, is not to be underestimated, Nelson said. The success of such work is of eminent importance to the state.

The Crosby Legion post expects to have a talk on a similar subject by someone from the fish and game department, in the near future.

ARMOUR 2 MINE, CROSBY, LEADS SAFETY AWARDS

The high efficient safety record of the Armour No. 2 underground mine of the Inland Steel Co., Crosby, leads the list of mines receiving certificates of honor for outstanding safety records, according to the annual report of the Joseph A. Holmes Safety Association.

The Crosby mine received its certificate for the following record: "The Armour No. 2 underground iron mine of the Inland Steel Company, Crosby, for having worked from Sept. 19, 1923, to January 11, 1932, without a single fatality. During this time there were 3,040,900 man-hours of work."

STATE IS NEAR TOP IN SURFACED ROADS

Minnesota has a total of 43,061 miles of roads surfaced with gravel or higher types, according to figures given out by C. M. Babcock, commissioner of highways. The total rural road mileage of all classes is given at 116,166. There are 33,750 miles graded and unsurfaced and 34,355 miles unimproved. Trunk highways: unimproved, 0; graded and unsurfaced, 148; surfaced, 6,715; total, 6,863. (Of surfaced roads 1,872 miles are paved, 1,872 bituminous, 2,971 gravel. Although none are "unimproved," more than 1,700 miles are temporary trunk highways of sub-standard grade.)

State aid roads: unimproved, 1,454; graded and unsurfaced, 1,156; surfaced, gravel or better, 13,883; total, 16,493.

County aid (gas tax) roads: unimproved, 2,635; graded and unsurfaced, 2,956; surfaced, gravel or better, 3,789; total, 9,379.

All other roads: unimproved, 30,266; graded and unsurfaced, 34,490; surfaced, gravel or better, 13,675; total, 83,431.

The fourth class includes all township and county roads which are neither in the state aid or the county aid class. Only part of the counties have any county roads which are not in either of these two classes.

Outside the trunk highway system the "surfaced" roads are mostly gravel, there being only about 170 miles of paved and 215 miles of bituminous roads in the secondary systems. In most cases gravel is adequate for the traffic they carry.

In former years official reports were compiled by the highway department on state aid and trunk highways, and unofficial reports on other road by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. A summary of these reports a year ago showed 37,317 miles surfaced, out of a total of 110,655 miles of roads of all classes. The new figures still leave Minnesota in third place among the states in total miles of surfaced roads, but gaining rapidly on the two states, Indiana and Ohio, which have a larger mileage surfaced. Most of the improvements on the secondary roads in Minnesota have been made since the trunk highway plan was adopted in 1920. Since that time the counties and townships have been able to spend all their fund, including the state aid, on secondary roads, ranging all the way from furnishing right-of-way to doing the major part of the construction work and in some cases maintenance also.

ADVICE TO THE MOTORIST—

The following advice to the motorist, given by Maxwell Halsey of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, should be impressed upon every driver:

1. Regulate your speed to driving conditions. Twenty-five miles per hour may be more dangerous than 45 miles per hour under certain conditions.
2. Do not drive faster than will permit you to stop within the assured clear distance ahead. Some one may suddenly come out of an intersection or around a curve.
3. Know the rules and regulations and obey them. They are designed to bring safety and their disobedience will cause accidents.
4. Keep on your side of the road, it is the safe side.
5. Do not pass unless you can see that no one is coming and that you have enough room.
6. Signal before you turn and turn from the correct lane.
7. Drive smoothly—the unexpected is liable to cause accidents.
8. Have your car inspected and maintain it in good operating condition.
9. Give the pedestrian more than his share of the right of way—pick on some one your size.
10. Slow down and be particularly careful when pavement is slippery, when visibility is poor and during the evening peak hour—4 to 6 p. m.

These rules deserve careful study. Following them should eliminate, to the greatest degree, the possibility of accident. They are based purely on courtesy and common sense—two great friends of accident prevention.

ONE BIG COOPERATIVE—

The dairymen of the New York Milk Shed are setting an example that should be observed by farmers everywhere.

Delegates from nearly every county of the Milk Shed recently met in Syracuse and went on record as favoring one big cooperative association, and recommended that the Dairymen's League, a pioneer in its field, be the one.

They then adopted a number of resolutions embracing the fundamentals necessary to a successful cooperative. These included: A comprehensive financing plan, ability to control surplus at its source, employing a classified price plan for the sale of milk and its products, etc.

These dairymen are taking the bit in their teeth, and doing the things that will pull the farmer out of the economic mire. A strong, loyally supported cooperative is essential to agricultural progress. There is no room for division of effort, or internal discord. It is up to every farmer to work for the good of all, if only for selfish reasons. In New York the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association has done an immensely valuable work ever since its inception—and the scope and worth of that work will be greatly increased if the recommendations of the delegates are scrupulously followed by the farmers whose interest they have at heart.

SOLEMN PROMISE VS. FREE SUGAR—

The keeping of a solemn promise isn't always such a matter of high-minded altruism as it seems on the surface.

When the House of Representatives voted independence for the Philippines the other day by the one-sided vote of 306 to 47, it might have been thought that the conscience of the republic was at last stirring the legislators to fulfill the pledge that the government made three decades ago.

Underneath, however, motives far less creditable were at work.

Whether this particular independence bill becomes law or not, it is fairly obvious that the Filipinos are going to get their freedom in the not-distant future. But they will get it, not because Uncle Sam has suddenly grown kindly and solicitous, but because he has discovered that his bread isn't buttered on the side that he had supposed.

Keeping the Philippines, in plain English, is more expensive and troublesome than it is worth. Free Philippine sugar importation hits the American sugar growers where they live. Immigration restrictions are hard to handle, as between an island possession and the mother country. Uncle Sam's pocketbook and his peace of mind will both be better off, if Manila is the seat of an independent government.

What considerations of justice and fair play were never able to do, ordinary selfishness is about to accomplish.

Nevertheless, freedom is freedom, no matter how it is gained; and the Filipinos probably will not be too particular about looking this gift horse in the mouth. There is very little doubt that an overwhelming majority in the islands wants independence very much. So long as they get it they will not be inclined to worry greatly about Uncle Sam's motives in giving it.

For the United States, meanwhile, the vote in the House marks the end of an epoch. The gaudy imperialism that was born at the close of the last century seems about ready for decent burial. No longer are we enamored of toting the white man's burden of living according to the gospel of Kipling. Do island colonies cost more than they are worth? If so, we are quite ready to give them up.

OUR CITY CHARTER

Cities are classified as first, second, third and fourth class. The division is based on population, as determined by the last state or federal census. Brainerd having now over 10,000 people is a city of the third class. Cities are further classified as those operating under home rule charters, those operating under special laws, and those incorporated and operating under general acts of the legislature. According to the latter method it is possible to have cities of different populations in each group. A good deal of the legislation adopted for cities of any size classification is again specialized as to its application to (1) cities not under home rule charter, (2) all cities, (3) cities of the class in question operating under home rule charters.

An act of our legislature provides that for the purpose of determining classification, and for construing any laws relating to the affairs of cities applicable only to cities of a prescribed population, the population shall be determined by adding five per cent of the total population of such city as determined by the last state or federal census. Adding five per cent was prescribed to provide an excess to absorb small losses in cities with populations just on the border line. Brainerd is now just over the border, having about 10,200 people; but it could lose nearly 600 people and still retain its third class rank.

Many statutes have been set up to govern specific instances, wherefore it is difficult to state in what respect a city of the third class operating under a home rule charter may be affected by these statutes until some intricate question arises. As a general thing the home rule charter is quite supreme in its authority; and even if not infinitely specific, it usually provides at least to some degree for virtually every feature of municipal business, or makes possible carrying out necessary public business through some existing department. At times an uncommon procedure may have to be followed, and because it is uncommon it may have the resemblance of being improper.

The main task for any Charter Commission is to see that all present and some likely future needs of a city as experience there has made manifest are adequately covered, and leave those things which are of a special nature due to classification of cities to be governed by existing statutes when the occasion arises; or else grant broader powers now and exclude detail, which detail may be left to ordinances passed by the City Council and enacted pursuant to the Charter. The tendency in present charters is to grant broader powers and simplify the charter.

A home rule charter is as a "Constitution" of a municipality, and within the provisions of federal laws and state laws and constitutions such a charter may include anything the freeholders desire. If the case in Brainerd is mainly one of new needs due to growth of the city, then the Charter is probably unsuitable merely as to certain existing provisions being too restrictive. A few amendments here and there may be all that is needed.

QUOTATIONS

Men are unfair. They always want more than you can give. If some women have become "chisellers" that's a natural compensation.—Georgette Carneal, novelist.

I think men are noble. Many of the men I know have sacrificed tremendously for their women, in both time and money.—Thyra Samter Winslow, novelist.

An armed struggle between the Japanese and American imperialism is inevitable.—The Red Star, official Soviet army newspaper.

We are determined in every way to work for a four-power agreement between Britain, France, Germany and Italy. I hope to see real confidence between the four of us.—Ramsay MacDonald, premier of England.

South Africa does not know the Boer War is over. The British and Dutch still conduct a lively feud.—George Bernard Shaw.

BARBS

If the House plan goes through, Filipinos will have to blame their high taxes on their own politicians after 1940.

The Columbia University editor who criticized football has been thrown out. Columbia evidently believes in free speech as long as you don't say anything.

Japan is all right in her way, says an editorial writer. The trouble is, we don't like her way.

N.P. HEAD OUTLINES CHANGE DIVIDEND

New York.—Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific railway, told stockholders at their annual meeting Tuesday that directors had decided to put the stock on a semi-annual dividend basis, against previous quarterly disbursements, because of the decline in earnings of the Northern Pacific and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, from which it receives substantial dividends.

Five retiring directors were re-elected for a period of three years. They were: Stephen Birch, Charles Donnelly, J. N. Hanna, R. G. Lemingwell and John Sloane. Votes cast were 1,387,669 out of a total of 2,480,000.

Agricultural land conditions, according to Donnelly, were the best in 10 years but both passenger and freight revenues of the road were declining. He noted particularly sharp reductions in passenger and lumber movements.

THREE WAY RACE IN NEB. PRIMARY

Lincoln, Neb.—The three way race between Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, Gov. William M. Murray of Oklahoma and Speaker of the House John Nance Garner for Nebraska's support as candidates for the democratic presidential nomination featured Tuesday's state primary election.

Nebraska is allotted 16 delegates to the democratic national convention and Governor Murray, champion of agriculture and enemy of Wall street, stumped the state for followers. Gov. Roosevelt's campaign managers urged their candidate as the state's choice while Garner's name was placed on the ballots without his personal authorization.

Only the name of Joseph Irwin France of Maryland, appeared on the republican election preference ballot. The name of President Hoover was expected generally to be written in.

23 "TRANSIENTS" FILL CITY JAIL

Hostelry accommodations of the Brainerd city jail were taxed to the limit Monday night.

Twenty-three "knights of the road," weary of travel by the roads, busses and the open road, made the jail their stopping place for the night. When all beds were filled, the men curled themselves up on bedding on the floor. They awoke early Tuesday morning and continued their way to destinations not even known by themselves.

In 1930 New Iso-Vis Motor Oil introduced with laboratory tests proving it will not thin out from dilution, gives little carbon and lubricates at extremes of temperature

In 1931 New Iso-Vis Motor Oil demonstrated these same qualities in tests made by the American Automobile Association on the Indianapolis Speedway and in Zero Cold Rooms

Now 1932

These Reporters to bring you Interesting Stories from lips of Iso-Vis Users

"GET THE FACTS." That was the order that went to our research people in 1930 and to the American Automobile Association in 1931. "Get the facts about lubrication requirements and how Iso-Vis (a Standard Oil product) meets them."

"Get the facts." Again this year that was the order. But this time it went out to skilled news writers, trained for years to "get the facts" of human activities. "Who are the people who are using Iso-Vis Motor Oil?" "Are they satisfied?" "How do their cars perform?"

Mr. Casey and Miss Lane met and talked with Iso-Vis users everywhere. Professor Davidson, a specialist in Agricultural Engineering, interviewed farm users of Standard Oil lubricants.

Now you'll enjoy reading these colorful stories. Look for them.

ROBERT J. CASEY
Reporter, Chicago Daily News. Wartime captain of artillery, traveler and author, Mr. Casey interviewed many men users of Iso-Vis.

MARGARET LANE
Feature Writer, International News Service, on leave from the London "Daily Express." Miss Lane interviewed women Iso-Vis users.

J. BROWNLEE DAVIDSON
Professor of Agricultural Engineering, Ames, Iowa, Agricultural College. Recognized authority on farm equipment, he interviewed farmers.

ON RETURNING TO THE HIVE AFTER A SUCCESSFUL HONEY-GATHERING TRIP THIS CURIOUS DEMONSTRATION IS USED TO BE A TO THE OTHER WORKERS.

How to INFLUENCE WHATEVER ON THE WEATHER.

© 1932 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Fungus Spores, when carried by the wind, light on the moist wood of automobiles, and begin to grow. Thread-like growths enter the wood at the joints, and within a short time doors and tops sag and fall to pieces.

BEES have two different dance steps: the honey dance, and the pollen dance. On returning to the hive after locating a new source of honey, the bee goes into a peculiar rhythmic performance. Other bees very shortly discover the newly located food supply. Each dance has its specific meaning, and the honey dance is never given as a signal for collection.

WITH A FEW KINKS IRONED OUT, YOUR SURVEY WOULD LOOK GOOD TO ME. THE ACME AGENCY GOT UP A BEAUTIFUL PROSPECTUS, TOO, AND I WANT TO RESERVE MY DECISION A LITTLE LONGER.

BUT A SMALLER AGENCY CAN GIVE A MORE PERSONAL SERVICE.

YOU'RE RIGHT, THERE! IF IT HADN'T BEEN FOR THE WAY YOU'VE ENTERTAINED MY DAUGHTER, I WOULD HAVE BEEN COMPELLED TO POST-PONE THIS BUSINESS AND RETURN HOME WITH HER.

I BROUGHT AGUSTA HERE FOR A PURPOSE. SHE'S INFATUATED WITH A YOUNG GOOD-FOR-NOTHING POET. PUPPY-LOVE ROT. BUT SHE SEEMS MUCH HAPPIER SINCE SHE MET YOUNG CHICK'S WIFE.

-AND I NOTICE YOUR YOUNG NEPHEW THERE IS CONTRIBUTING A LITTLE, TOO!
